EUROPEANS WAKE UP

Jean Marie Le Pen Opens The Floodgates For European Nationalists

Jean-Marie Le Pen decisively defeated the left-wing candidates in the French elections, which rocked the Socialist New World Order. As soon as the results were announced, communists took to the streets, organising demonstrations with a view to intimidating their critics. Left-wing politicians and rabble-rousers always talk about democracy, but, should the public choose anything other than socialism, how the hatred, fire and venom explode. Politicians of the left claim that Royalty and aristocrats always behave like they have a divine right to rule. It is in fact the Socialists who display a lust for power in this way. Leftists feared losing control in Holland, so they shot Dutch nationalist leader Pim Fortuyn. This kind of evil action is all that we can expect from communists. No matter what they may promise, in reality all they have to offer is violence, inefficiency and oppression. Here in Britain, Socialists have always used violence and intimidation against those who oppose their internationalist programme. The National Front has had to endure violent left-wing demonstrations in almost every major activity that it has organised. Revolutionary street activists of the left have been in the fortunate position of having their friends in the press and television news desks distort the news to imply that the victims were in fact the attackers. The Le Pen result in France is a direct result of public frustration and annoyance over the EU and immigration. David Blunkett has been panicked into giving lip-service to the problem. He has pledged to prevent the "swamping" of schools by asylum-seekers. The general public has taken the statement with a pinch of salt, not forgetting that the entire Labour Party have on numerous occasions told us how proud they are in situations where there has been just one white child in a class. In Alexandra Park School in Oldham there is just one white child, among 277 pupils. Mainstream politicians have found in this "an ideal situation." Those in power have claimed that Naomi, the only English child in the school, "is a beacon of hope for the future". We would have thought that this beacon has been virtually snuffed out. This is more a case of drowning than swamping. The Chairman of the Commission for Racial Equality, Gurbax Singh, describes the word "swamping" as regrettable. He adds, " I don't think the use of emotive language actually helps us to develop a society where all of us belong." It is a tragedy that Mr Singh and his fellow-countrymen have been led to believe by our treacherous politicians that they do belong. They do not! The British public have never been asked if they were prepared to take these people. Obviously we were simply never asked because those who should have done so knew we would say no. One thing that Blunkett's "swamping" remarks have shown, is that we have got them on the run. The National Front was formed in order to give Britons a party to vote for which would carry out the policies that the public desired. We believe that most people would vote for the National Front if it were not for our party being constantly misrepresented by media pundits. Since Le Pen has forced European nationalism back on to the agenda, scores of newspaper hacks have been forced to admit that nationalists have a justifiable case. They have even widely condemned Parliament's disregard for the people. In particular, socialists have been fiercely criticized for their maniacal drive towards European integration and the swamping of our countries by non-whites. You would expect the National Front in Britain to have received some credit for having correctly assessed the situation. Clearly our policies are the only means of returning Britain to its former civilized state. Yet media hacks still talk about our "democratic" politicians needing to heed the public's demands, rather then consider replacing them with people who will do what is required. As the National Front has shown in France, when the public decides that enough is enough they always turn to the right.

PATRIOTIC REVIVAL

by Derek Godfrey

The death of the Queen Mother and the television programmes which chronicled some of the many episodes in her long and eventful life rekindled memories of the glory days when Britain was the hub of an empire a quarter of the earth's surface. It was also an age when family life was the bedrock of society, with Great Britain as a monument to social justice, probity and law. But since the end of the Second World War the gutlessness of our elected leaders has not only reduced our once-great imperial nation almost to the level of a third-rate power, but has also led to our sovereignty being surrendered to an alien-dominated "parliament" in a foreign country. Parliament has cunningly passed the authority to dictate nearly every aspect of our daily lives over to the EU. Among the best-remembered episodes on the Home Front in Britain during the war were of the King and Queen visiting heavily-bombed areas of London's East End. They were always greeted there by a people to whom the possibility of defeat was always non-existent. Today many elderly British people who remain in places like the East End and who had endured the everyday dangers of the wartime Blitz feel dismayed. They must have a deep sense of betrayal at seeing neighborhoods in which they and their families lived for generations become transformed into what the late Enoch Powell once described as, "areas of alien occupation". In these ghettos the traditional British way of life has been virtually eradicated and parading the Union Jack, which flew so defiantly during the war is discouraged, if not altogether forbidden. This act of national denial, we are told, is to avoid provocation to communities that do not, and never can have anything in common with the British nation. The post-war years have also seen many age-old institutions and folkish values challenged by degenerate philosophies and subterranean cultures that have no place in any civilised society. Patriotism, once a vital British characteristic, has been made a dirty word by Left-wing elitists and politically-correct circles. State education and almost every channel of the media have been mobilised towards propagating an ideology aimed at consigning our Anglo Saxon and Celtic nationhood to oblivion in a "multi-racial" melting pot. The history of the British island race has been a long saga of confronting and overcoming seemingly invincible odds. The signs are that at long last a sense of national awareness is beginning to permeate among indigenous British people. Much to the dismay and consternation of the perfidious Labour left, which had arrogantly predicted public indifference to the Queen Mother's passing, the huge crowds lining the route of the royal funeral procession, and tens of thousands queuing long hours to see the lying in state, showed not only does the monarchy remain high in public esteem, but that nationalistic patriotism is far from dead. The days of the Empire may have ended, but it is not empires or material wealth that make an outstanding nation, but the quality of its people. There was no British Empire during the days of the Tudors and their Plantagenet predecessors, but Britain was a great and respected country. Victorian values which made Britain great were strongly held by the Queen Mother. It is for this reason that she was held in great esteem by the British people. Our nation clearly rejects the liberal degeneracy which is the hallmark of our current leaders. The people are crying out for a return to order and discipline.

The Queen Mother's Affinity With The British Public Is Clearly Seen Here

MORE TREACHERY

British governments have encouraged into our country HIV-positive layabouts, Jamaican gangsters, big-time drug barons, Moslem terrorists and many other kinds of criminal and undesirables. Collectively, these are a menace to society and an enormous financial drain on public funds. Nevertheless, "New" Labour, as well as the other mainstream parties have made them all welcome.

THIS REALLY MAKES THE BLOOD BOIL

Jeanne Matthew, a 63-year-old British woman who was born in Manchester, has spent much of her life in Zimbabwe. She fled to Britain in fear of her life. On arrival she expected to be welcomed. Despite being a British citizen and British passport holder, she is being refused entry to the land of her birth. Her entry into Britain has been refused and she has been told she is likely to be sent back to Zimbabwe. Jeanne has spent most of her savings on the trip to Britain and has been denied state benefits, because it was said that she has failed to demonstrate a "commitment" to Britain. If commitment to Britain was an essential condition for being allowed to live here, then in our opinion Tony Blair, "Lord" Levy, Ted Heath, Jack Straw, Robin Cook, Peter Hain and "Lord" David Sainsbury should be booted out forthwith. One may also ask how many of the Moslems, Yardies, Triad members, Rastafarians, Hindus, Zionists, communists and I.RA. sympathizers living here are committed to Britain? This shameful piece of legislation which is being used to return Jeanne Matthew to Zimbabwe runs counter to their own propaganda. For many years the National Front has claimed that the children of immigrants are not British and have no claim to be here. Successive governments have insisted (in order to keep the foreigners here) that if they are born here they are British and have an unquestionable right to be here. Jeanne Matthew was born here of British parents. What happened to her unquestionable right to be here? Mureja Mabota also from Zimbabwe, had no trouble getting into Britain. He was recently found guilty of murdering his partner. He brutally bludgeoned her to death with a club hammer, he then mutilated her face with a stanley knife and finished off by slitting her throat. The government clearly does operate a rigid selection process for asylum-seekers. They let in the ones that we would keep out and keep out the ones that we would let in.

There is a continual attack on the British nation and its assets.

So widespread is this anti-British activity that it is difficult to keep track of it all. New Home Office laws have been designed to enable murderers to escape during newly-instituted shopping excursions for prisoners. Prison Officers have been informed that they must allow killers during "familiarization" outings to be unrestrained (no handcuffs). Even worse, should a prisoner make a dash for freedom, warders have been told that they must not give chase. This piece of subversive, communist legislation was only brought to the public's attention after murderer Keith Downey escaped while on a shopping trip to Birmingham. 35-year-old Downey was serving a "life" sentence at Featherstone prison in Staffordshire. While out, at the first opportunity he simply ran away. A senior prison officer has said that the new Home Office rules mean that it will be " virtually impossible to stop other convicts from escaping in future." The National Front advocates capital punishment to be reinstated, with the death penalty for murderers and terrorists. Also, "life" should mean life, and not a mere five years. Prisons should be austere places where inmates do not want to be. They certainly should not resemble holiday camps

Jeanne Matthew, a British Citizen and genuine refugee in fear, of her life has been threatened with deportation back to Zimbabwe

UPROAR IN RURAL ENGLAND

Asylum-seekers are pouring into Britain at an alarming rate and the government is doing nothing to deter them. Decent people in Throckmorton near Birmingham are going to have their lives blighted by three refugee-holding centres. Rural locations in Nottinghamshire, Oxfordshire and Worcestershire have been named as the next sites where refugee camps are to be sited. There are plans for at least another 25 such camps. Will there ever be an end to this insanity? We will be glad to help locals protest against this injustice. Some anti-social parasites are cashing in on the asylum-seeker debacle. There are a disproportionate number of people from the legal profession to be found among the hangers on of "New" Labour. These legal vultures are making a fortune at the public's expense out of legal aid bills for asylum-seekers.

HACKING AWAY AT OUR DEFENCES

By stealth the Labour Party has severely weakened our military defences. In November last year it was announced that the R.A.F 's three largest air bases face the threat of closure. Those in question are R.A.F. Brize Norton in Oxfordshire, St Mawgan in Cornwall and R.A. F. Lyneham in Wiltshire. They employ between them a work-force of 6,600 servicemen and nearly 2,000 civilians, and help to generate trade in the area. The usual excuse is being churned out by the Labour government that the cuts are necessary due to shortage of money. In the same month, November 2001, the public were informed that the devastation in Afghanistan was so severe that it will cost £13 billion to rebuild. British taxpayers have been committed by "New" Labour to pay their share of the cost. Having got away with this treachery, the government has hacked away at our defences further by scrapping the Royal Navy's Sea Harrier jump-jets. Communists in Westminster have proved to be far more effective in wrecking Britain in just six years than the communists in the Kremlin were throughout the entire life of the U.S.S.R. regime.

Three Men Convicted Of Newcastle Gang Rape on 15-year-old Girl

Three Asian men were recently convicted of an horrific rape on a 15-year-old girl in Newcastle Upon Tyne. A fourth Asian man was convicted of abduction during the incident. The girl, now so traumatised that she lives in fear of her life, was brutally gang raped by the men whilst under the influence of drugs unlawfully administered to her by the same men before they gang raped her in a dingy flat in Arthurs Hill, Newcastle.

The men are named as follows:- Amber Liaquat, 21, of Strathmore Crescent, Yasin Ramzan 19, formerly of Campbell Place, and Robbani Miah 18, of Ellesmere Road, all in Newcastle's West End. The fourth man convicted of abduction is Ruman Abu, 17, of Derwentwater Road, Gateshead. All four men were told by Judge Whitburn that they face severe prison sentences when they reappear before him in the near future.

The victim was drugged with a spiked drink, abducted and gang-raped by at least three men, the court was told. The victim was not aware of how many men were involved or how often she was raped in one flat, then again in another. However, DNA swabs taken during a medical examination of the victim confirmed the shocking truth that more than one attacker had been involved in the rape. Acting Chief Inspector Max Black of Newcastle West End CID said "This was a gang-rape on a defenceless girl. The men who did this can only be described as animals. They callously disregarded the girl's future welfare and peace of mind when they carried out these attacks".

The horrific gang rape will mentally scar the victim for life and she will need extensive emotional support. The area forms part of the Asian sector in Newcastle and contains run-down back streets where drug-taking and drug-fuelled parties are commonplace. Local residents were understandably shocked at the news of the ordeal suffered by this young girl. We can only hope that severe sentences will be handed out to these Asians. On release from prison they should be deported back to their countries of origin. We have to expect some criminal activity on the part of some of our own people, but we do not have to endure attacks on British families by foreigners.

AN ELEVENTH HOUR WARNING

For the past forty years we have been told that we should be thankful that we live in a democracy. Those of us who have actually studied the political system are fully aware that we do not live under such ideal conditions. What has been in existence is a one party state shared between two near-identical parties – the reds or the blues, Tweedle Dum or Tweedle Dee. The more unrepresentative governments became, the more the word "democracy" was bandied about, in just the same way that it had been used in the wording of the former Soviet state, the German Democratic Republic.

Under governments prior to New Labour an illusion was sustained that at least Parliament was trying to look after the welfare of our people, even if not succeeding. Since the Socialists have been returned to power, there has not even been a pretence that our wishes are being listened to. No one can deny that the social problems in our country have got steadily worse.

There is now a crime committed in London every three seconds and police chiefs have warned that parts of our country are close to anarchy. Murder, abduction, rape, stabbings, theft, delinquency, drugs and terrorism have all become a possible daily threat to every one of us. The Labour Party in particular has been responsible for introducing changes which have brought into being the unacceptable violent society, which we are supposed to live with nowadays. New Labour is an enemy of the British nation, they are working towards our demise.

Socialists have recently been jumping up and down with joy, proclaiming that "through race-mixing, the last generation of whites has been born", hence their eagerness to carry on swamping us with non-whites. The public has become outraged over the asylum-seeker issue, but without an effective opposition the government will continue to thumb their noses at our people.

Western Europe is balanced on a knife-edge between civilisation and permanent hell. If the Socialists are not brought to heel and replaced very soon, the outlook for our children and grandchildren looks very bleak.

Here are just a few examples of the murderers, terrorists, rapists and thugs who have been enticed into Britain by multi-racialists.

!GASP! SHOCK! HORROR!

HERE IS THE NATIONAL FRONT IMMIGRATION' POLICY TAKEN FROM OUR 1972 MANIFESTO

Everyone wants to see better race relations in Britain and throughout the world. In this we agree with the other parties. We differ from them, however, in believing that better relations can best be achieved by separation rather than integration. All experience has shown that African, Asian, and West Indian immigrants cannot be successfully assimilated into the British population. Where they settle in large numbers there is invariably community strife and tension. They bring with them living habits which it is not our purpose to criticize but only to say that they are habits strange and alien to the British people. Their settlement in great numbers in British towns has transformed those towns out of all recognition for the native inhabitants. We believe that this transformation has not been for the better. The old parties created the immigrant problem in Britain by sitting back and doing nothing during the years in which the greatest immigrant flood took place. During those years they refused for the most part to even acknowledge that it existed as a problem at all. Later, in the face of growing public resentment, they had to admit that there was a problem. They then made a pretence of tackling the problem with a hopelessly inadequate policy. Future immigration they claimed, would be limited by "controls", while the problem created by the immigrants already here would be dealt with by a "community relations" programme costing vast sums of money. The controls have not worked, but on the contrary have proved to be a sham. Thousands of immigrants have continued to enter Britain illegally and now they have been granted an amnesty by the present Government. As for the programme of "community relations", the more money that is spent on this, the bigger farce it becomes. No amount of money will compel people to mix who do not want to mix – and no amount of laws will do so either. The infamous Race Relations' Acts have accomplished nothing in the way of getting the communities to integrate. Racial tension in Britain is on the increase and threatens in time to re-enact the gruesome tragedy of race war in America. (We might add Cyprus, Israel/ Palestine, Fiji, Northern Ireland, Ceylon / Sri Lanka and India / Pakistan.) We are determined that Britain will be spared this experience.

REPATRIATION

The National Front advocates a total ban on any further non-white immigration into Britain, and the launching of a phased plan of repatriation for coloured immigrants and their descendants already here. This programme will be put into operation with the greatest possible humanity, but we do not suppose that it can be effected without some hardship to a portion of the people concerned. We simply prefer to risk hardship to one generation of immigrants rather than ensure hardship for countless future generations of people in this country. Repatriation of the immigrants will not be completed overnight. The changeover of labour may indeed present some initial difficulty, but this is small in relation to the gravity of the problem that we are storing for ourselves if we opt instead for a permanent multi-racial Britain. Pending the repatriation of immigrants, their status should revert to that of any other aliens. British citizens should have prior claim in welfare, the N.H.S. and housing. All immigrants should have equal protection by the law as well as equal responsibilities under the law. We are pledged to repeal the British Nationalities Act of 1948, which is so largely responsible for the immigrant flood, and also the infamous Race Relation Act, which utilise an entirely un-British police-state apparatus to persecute Britons who wish to discriminate in favour of their own kind. THERE IS NOTHING TO GET ALARMED ABOUT HERE. IT IS CLEAR THAT ALL WE WANT IS TO KEEP THINGS THE WAY THEY WERE. LET US NOW COMPARE OUR POLICY ON IMMIGRATION IN 1972 WITH THAT OF OUR ENEMIES.

THE IMMIGRATION POLICIES OF OUR ENEMIES

We will bring into Britain millions of Africans, Asians and other unassimilable people. Among those to be encouraged here will be murderers, drug-pushers, pimps, rapists, terrorists, anarchists and violent lawbreakers of every kind. By getting rid of the Death Penalty and giving lenient sentences to criminals, the situation can be engineered to get out of control. We will turn a blind eye to much of the immigrant crime, while making a big issue of white wrongdoing. Football hooliganism can be used to create this diversion. Immigrants will be given more in the way of benefits, as well as a priority in housing. We will speak in glowing terms of immigrant achievement, while deriding and ignoring the successes of the British. We must create an illusion that foreigners are superior. This will make the indigenous population submissive to our plans. We must always pretend that the number of foreigners in Britain is less than the actual number. There are several ways of falsifying the figures. Once they have been here for five years, we will no longer call them immigrants. We will count a whole family as a single application. These ploys alone will drastically reduce the figures that we will publicise. Speed will be of the essence in ensuring that the British become outnumbered as soon as possible. We will give vast amount of taxpayer's money to immigrants and asylum-seekers, and bow to their every whim. Because of this we will then be able to count on their votes to keep us in office. To silence criticism of our immigration programme, we will introduce Race Laws. It will then become a criminal offence to complain. These laws must be vigorously enforced. Should this on its own not be sufficient to silence critics, we will use the Race Laws to sack people from their jobs, or evict them from their council houses. Among the immigrants there will be many who are honest, decent people. We should claim that because some of them are honest and hard-working, this negates any criticism of immigration itself or problems caused by the newcomers. Our Race Relations Officers will ensure that any complaints are viewed as a breach of the law. Reducing the white population in our genocide programme can be speeded up by encouraging race-mixing and homosexuality, putting harmful chemicals in the food chain, creating infertility, and reducing the efficiency of the N.H.S. Through destabilisation and creation of racial strife in Southern Africa we have managed largely to eliminate the white man there. The Marxist dictators that we have installed in Africa have not only all-but-wiped-out the white man, they are making the lands desolate, disease-ridden, and uncivilized. In the same way as we have brought about the demise of the white man in Africa we can ultimately repeat our victory in Europe.

Wilson's Betrayal

Harold Wilson's government took the diabolical step of no longer having Rhodesia's war dead included at the Annual Remembrance Service in Whitehall. The Rhodesians had fought gallantly and of all our allies lost the highest percentage of their fighting forces during the Second World War. Immediately the government's decision was implemented, National Front members righted the wrong by laying a wreath on behalf of our Rhodesian kinfolk. Every November since that time, the National Front has held a ceremony at the Whitehall cenotaph where we have laid a wreath for the Rhodesians who fell and another for the other allied servicemen. Our dignified service has always been arranged with the permission of the police and appropriate authorities. Below is an Anti-Nazi League poster which clearly misrepresents our activity. By using the words "STOP THEM" they mean "prevent by force" – kicking, shoving, punching and throwing missiles included. This poster is clearly inciting people to commit acts of violence. However, because the leaders of the Anti-Nazi League have friends in high places, no action has ever been taken to stop their own violent activities or incitements.

THE VIOLENCE IN OUR INNER CITIES

Murder rates in London are soaring. They are now considerably worse than in the black ghettoes of Harlem in New York. The Borough of Lambeth, which includes Brixton, saw 25 attacks per 1,000 people last year. This means that one in every forty people travelling through Lambeth was physically attacked. Many assaults are not reported, so we can assume that in reality the situation is even worse. Mainstream politicians clearly do not give a damn, but why should we have to run the gauntlet of knifemen every time we leave the house. When cornered Tony Blair stated that "Crime will be under control by September." Some hope! The public have now seen through "New" Labour and do not believe a word that they say. The areas where violent crime is out of control are all districts of high immigrant density. The hateful sub-culture of the foreigner now dominates these districts. We do not need more police initiatives. We must remove from our country the hostile immigrants who are the cause of the problem. They should be returned to Africa and Asia where they belong. Crime rates have improved in the worst parts of America, simply because their most violent criminals have come here. This is due to a recent crackdown by the United States authorities. Britain on the other hand is seen as a soft touch where they are allowed to target and menace the public with impunity. The climate of political correctness and the Race Acts do much to encourage immigrants in their violent and criminal activities. So dense is the black community in some areas of Britain that enforcing law and order is more like policing another country. The terrifying situation that has been allowed to develop is a result of electing so-called moderate politicians. Those who have had the job of keeping undesirables out of Britain have for many years had their hands tied by the Home Office. It is clear that the foreign invasion of our country has been deliberately planned. This unfortunate situation has arisen because for too long the public have rejected the National Front in favour of those who want to destroy us. At last, however, the public is coming to realise its mistake.

RE-KINDLING THE SPIRIT

The Sikh nation of Khalsa does not stir up any great memories, yet 50,000 Sikhs marched through Southall in London to commemorate its birth in 1699. By contrast, St George's Day passed without any such large-scale event. Ken Livingstone, the I.R.A.-supporting, communist Mayor of London arranged a massive celebration on St Patrick's Day for the Irish, but nothing for St George's Day of which he was most contemptuous. Race Commissars and the left-wing teachers' union denied three out of five schoolchildren the chance to watch the Queen Mother's funeral. At both ceremonial events (the funeral procession to Westminster Hall, and the funeral service, followed by the journey to Windsor Castle) there was a strong sense of togetherness and national unity. The Canadians, Australians and New Zealanders that we met at these events all held deep feelings of being close to Britain. It was their Queen Mother who had passed away as well as ours. White Commonwealth ties and British nationalism are still a reality, and we should not allow communists to spread their poison and isolate us from each other or our kith and kin overseas.

SOMETHING OF THE NIGHT ABOUT IT

During 1994 and early 1995 Winston Churchill MP was making statements about the alarming number of immigrants waiting to enter Britain. Mr Churchill had for over a year been trying to sell his grandfathers' state and private documents, but the Attorney General slapped a writ on him banning him from selling or even copying the papers. All state documents are the property of the Crown, and therefore not for sale. This ruling was conveniently withdrawn the same day that the papers were bought with National Lottery cash. The buyers were members of the powerful Rothschild family. Lord Rothschild, as Chairman of the National Heritage Memorial Fund, was at the time one of the parties who agreed the sale for the sum of £13.25 million. There was public outrage at the time regarding this sale, but public outrage does not count for much in our undemocratic society. The reason we mention this now is that there was much speculation at the time as to whether this sale was an inducement to silence Mr Churchill's criticism over the asylum-seeker issue. Eight years have now elapsed since the time of the sale and, in the meantime, not a word about asylum-seekers has been heard from Mr Churchill. Perhaps he would like to confound his critics by becoming vocal once more. During this sale we were reminded of another series of facts. The Churchill family has been financially indebted to the wealthy Rothschild banking family since the 1800's. Jeremy Soames, Winston Churchill the elder's grandson, sits on the board of the Rothschild family bank, thus continuing the close relationship between the two families. As a result of this, one wonders just how much influence the Rothschild's have exerted on our governments' policies over the years?

Letters To The Editor

Let us dispel the myth once and for all that the Labour Party and communists are for the working class. Every one of those in this category who has risen to a position where he is lording it over us is extremely wealthy, selfish and out of touch with the general public. Cherie Blair, Peter Mandelson, Steven Byers, John Prescott and the most senior judges are among those who claim to be representing the working class. While amassing their fortunes they have created untold misery for the very people they claim to support. The Socialists are in the main Republicans. They go to great lengths to exaggerate the cost of the monarchy, while in fact it is the ever-increasing army of anti-Royalists who are the parasites.

T. Byrne Bristol

Carjacking is a particularly terrifying and dangerous crime which has recently been added to mugging, steaming, gang-rape, stabbing and drug abuse – all of which have been introduced into Britain by immigrants. I might add that it is members of the host nation who are almost invariably the victims. This makes these race crimes, although I see they are never defined as such. We have been told by the race-mixers that immigrants will "enrich our culture". I do not think that even the most ardent multi-racialist (white-killer) has actually believed this, particularly when you consider that our culture was at the time the most highly developed in the world.

The liberal do-gooders owe us an apology for what they have done to our country. I have never yet heard a liberal admit to being wrong on anything, even when the evidence is clearly damning, so I expect I shall wait in vain.

S. Clarke London

Poor Unfortunates Ugh!

According to our bleeding-heart-yet-well-heeled politicians, the never-ending stream of immigrants and asylum-seekers who are coming to Britain do so merely to obtain sanctuary and meagre handouts. My own observations are quite different. If I see someone driving an old car, it is usually a white person. The ever-increasing number of new Mercedes, B.M.W.'s and expensive off-roaders are invariably being driven by foreigners, often still wearing foreign dress. Frequently at the supermarkets I have noticed that immigrants load their trolleys with over £120 of groceries without a second thought and that it is the English who are counting the cost. Immigrants, it seems, can afford to build mosques, schools and social centres for their own communities, while white parents are barely able to afford extra tuition for their children. When houses have been put up for sale, it is quite common to find that among the prospective buyers not one is British. I have even been shown Council houses that have been rented out to Asians who already have more than one home. The Council houses have been sub-let, and on occasions they have been divided into separate rooms to obtain more in rent. When our youngsters have left home and rented rooms, almost invariably the landlord has been an immigrant. British businesses are closing down left, right and centre, only to be replaced by an ever-greater number of Asian enterprises. Contrary to government propaganda, the British are rapidly becoming a dispossessed people.

WHO ARE THE ANTI-NAZI LEAGUE ?

Who are the predominately abusive, foul-mouthed and unwashed rabble who call themselves the Anti-Nazi League? Some are work-shy lay-abouts who fear that a National Front government would expect them to work and to pay for their keep. Others are drug addicts, paedophiles and homosexuals who are aware that we disapprove of their lifestyles. However, the vast majority are young politically naive students who have been brainwashed by Marxist lecturers to hate everything white and British. As champions of the British cause, the National Front has been their prime target. Those who are seen carrying their red and yellow lollipop placards, shouting at the police, while pushing and shoving, are a pretty pathetic and politically insignificant bunch. However, those who initially set up the Anti-Nazi League and still control its major activities are a far more formidable group. The communists after the end of the end of the second-world-war were allowed to shift political will away from pro-British nationalism towards anti-British internationalism. There was little resistance to this communist advance. When the National Front was formed in 1967, an organised opposition to their anti-British activities had arrived. Taking advantage of the British public's naivety, the communists set up an organisation designed to kick the National Front off the streets and to prevent us from holding meetings. The title Anti-Nazi League was cleverly conceived in order to give the impression that they were opposing Nazis, rather than British patriots. The mainstay of the original Anti-Nazi League steering committee was Miriam Karlin. She was a prominent member of the Women's Campaign for Soviet Jewry. She also held a senior position on the Board of Deputies of British Jews. Karlin has probably done more than anyone to keep the Anti-Nazi League alive. At the time of the communist collapse in the former Soviet Union, when communism suddenly seemed to come to an end, Miriam Karlin appeared on television magazine programmes advertising the Anti-Nazi League. The clear intention was to recruit the former communists before they forgot about revolutionary politics and got on with their lives. The other main elements behind the Anti-Nazi League fell into two main categories : Marxists inside the Labour Party and Marxists outside the Labour Party. Those involved inside the Labour Party were mainly associated with the Marxist Tribune Group and / or were sympathisers of the Trotskyite-Marxist tendency, organised around the Labour Party Young Socialists who produced the newspaper Militant. The Marxists outside the Labour Party were mostly members of the Socialist Workers Party which was led by Ygael Gluckstein (alias Tony Cliff) and Chanie Rosenberg. Also, the International Marxist Group led by wealthy Indian Tariq Ali. Both of these groups are openly revolutionary. The British Communist Party had adopted a public image of following a parliamentary road to power. To our knowledge, they never used threats or street violence in the way that the other left-wing groups did. The news media have nearly always blamed the National Front for left-wing violence. Unfortunately for us, the mass of the general public were never on hand to witness what actually happened. We will continue this investigation into the Anti-Nazi League in a later edition.

PARTNERS IN CRIME

For many years, communists have been trying to dislodge Northern Ireland and Gibraltar from British rule. The Foreign Secretary, Jack Straw, and his South African sidekick, Peter Hain, have stepped up their campaigns to sell-out these two British territories. The Government of Gibraltar have become so concerned about recent events that they have appealed directly to the British public to show their loyalty. The people of Northern Ireland have for decades had to endure Labour Party backed-IRA terrorism. We would like to take this opportunity to state that the National Front fully supports the people of both Gibraltar and Northern Ireland in their wish to remain under British rule.

A NEW PROBLEM ARISING IN NORTHERN IRELAND

30 Moslem families have settled in Ballymena, Northern Ireland and have immediately set about creating a political presence for themselves. To help ingratiate itself with the host community, the Moslem group offered a brass replica representing the Islamic design on the Ka'bah to the local Council. The three D.U.P. Councillors approached were wise enough to defer acceptance of the gift. Moslems and their representatives on the Council for Ethnic Minorities have been putting pressure on the Ballymena Council to have the gift accepted. Already we see how a small number of Moslems can exert pressure on the local authority. D.U.P. Councillor, James Alexander defended his position in rejecting the Islamic gift by saying "I do not believe in the Islamic faith or its traditions, and I am suspicious because of the attacks on New York and Washington six months ago. A lot of people in the United States and elsewhere have been slaughtered by them. Also, non-Moslems are not allowed to practice their own faith in their countries." He added "I allow everyone to have their own beliefs, but I do not like anyone who tries to impose their beliefs on me or influence my beliefs." Both the S.D.L.P. and Ulster Unionists Councillors appeared to be naive on the issue, in that they were prepared to accept the gift. The Moslem community is determined to become a force to be reckoned with and has contacted the Equality Commission Director, the Multi-Cultural Resource Centre and a solicitor to have the Council forced to comply with its will.

It is common Middle East practice to make someone do what one wants by giving an unrequested gift. At a later date while seeking a favour, which under normal circumstances would not be granted, the gift-giver reminds his victim of the present he gave. The victim then feels obliged to provide the favour. This is the basis of the saying, "Beware strangers bearing gifts." Liberals in their naivety should be reminded of the proverb "The road to Hell is paved with good intentions". Perhaps also the saying, "A little knowledge is a dangerous thing" sums up the situation. Northern Ireland already has enough problems between Protestants and Catholics, without introducing a Moslem population, particularly one with political aspirations. Perhaps someone should make the S.D.L.P. and Ulster Unionist Councillors aware of exactly what is going on. To gain any position, acceptance is crucial. This is why the establishment seeks to keep the National Front, and similar organizations, shut out. Suppose that in order to gain recognition and acceptance, the National Front were to offer the R.A.F. museum in Hendon a perfectly restored Chipmunk trainer. We can be sure that the Museum would be forced from on high to decline the offer, despite the fact that this particular aircraft is missing from its collection. If it accepted our gift, every visitor to the Museum would see the Chipmunk with a sign saying "Presented by the National Front". We know for certain that our offer would be refused. Those in power are not going to bestow "acceptability" upon us. Unfortunately, we would not be able to use the Race Relations Acts to our advantage in the way that foreigners can.

A TERRORIST THAT LABOUR IS LOATH TO CONDEMN

While Tony Blair has busied himself in far off places which are of no concern to us, President Mugabe has been allowed to carry out ethnic cleansing of our kith and kin in Zimbabwe. He has also ruthlessly supressed and killed members of his legitimate opposition. So much widespread intimidation and violence have been recorded throughout the recent elections in Zimbabwe that if international force were to be deployed anywhere it should have been there. Mugabe's control of former Rhodesia has brought the once-prosperous country that produced enough food to provide export earnings as well as feed its own people down to a lawless dictatorship in a state of widespread famine. In the early 1980's Mugabe's troops swept through the minority Ndebele villages, killing 20,000 men, women and children. British governments have known from the start that Mugabe is a tyrannical butcher, not only of his opponents but of anyone who is not of his tribe. Despite this knowledge, British taxpayers' money has been given to this evil regime in the form of investment, money and arms. 'New' Labour is believed to have given another £36 million to Mugabe recently, without any conditions as to how the money is to be used. The whites have been the prime target of the Mugabe terrorist squad called the "war veterans". Many whites have been beaten, tortured, hacked-at with machetes, or chased from their land. Not only white farmers have been targets of the terrorists. Whites running hospitals, schools, foreign aid agencies and businesses have also been attacked. The way in which "Sir" Christopher Soames and "Lord" Carrington conducted the changeover and even insisted on the changeover to black rule in Rhodesia has been utterly disgraceful. Robert Mugabe had already been engaged in violence, murder and intimidation since the first mention of a possible end to white rule. The likely consequences of handing power to this tyrant were painfully clear. Yet Soames and Carrington, for reasons only known to themselves, allowed the unthinkable to happen. We should not expect any left-wing government to get tough with black tyrants such as Mugabe. After all, it was through the combined efforts of socialists, the United Nations and American foreign policy that brutal Marxists were installed as leaders throughout Africa. They have widely destroyed the civilisation and commerce that had been introduced by Europeans, and either killed or caused to flee the vast majority of the whites living in these regions. This appears to be consistent with socialist aims world-wide.

Mugabe – His terrorism, like that of the IRA, is tolerated by the New World Order

THE CHURCH SUBVERTED

Left-wing bishops in the West Midlands united in an attack on the candidates of the Christian-Right during the recent Council elections. They have accused the National Front and the B.N.P. of having policies which run counter to Christianity. It is in fact the bishops who are destroying the Church from within. They are no longer saying anything of relevance, and their services consist almost entirely of politically-correct platitudes. Because the original theology of Christianity is being ignored, congregations have dwindled. Numerous left-wing clergymen have been found guilty of homosexual practices (now decriminalised by Labour) and paedophile activity. This abhorrent behaviour is overwhelmingly practised by socialists, who have rejected the traditional values of decency. The Anglican bishops of the West Midlands have not united to protect Christianity. That is not their purpose. They have ganged-up together in a bid to cling on to their positions by "condemning" the National Front. They have nothing to condemn us for, but we have numerous charges to make against them. Not the least of these charges is the de-Christianisation of England.

ENGLISH FOOD - SORRY THAT'S OFF, DEAR

For some unknown reason the working man's cafe and transport cafes have disappeared, only to be replaced by an assortment of foreign eating places. For some time we have had grave doubts about some of these establishments and their health aspects. In our experience, foreigners' eating places seem to get a far less vigorous inspection than their British counterparts. It has been estimated by air freight officials that around ten tons of African dubious and disease-ridden, wild animal meat is passing through Heathrow airport every day. Sometimes the rotting meat is detected by the smell, sometimes from dripping blood and occasionally through observing crawling maggots. It is all imported for use in dining establishments. Asian and Oriental restaurant owners have been found guilty of serving up rats, pigeons, and cats, claiming that they are different from what they are. Most of the filthy meat is coming from China, Africa and India – all areas renowned for disease. Customs and Excise Officers claim that the meat is often concealed in furniture or passed off as fruit and vegetables. At Southwark Crown Court in March of last year, Mobolaji Osakuade was found guilty of importing and selling monkey meat for use in restaurants. Another immigrant in Hackney, East London, claimed that he could supply lion, tiger and domestic cat meat or even human remains if required. If the public had any idea what they were eating or the disgusting condition of the kitchens in service, they would be more selective of where they eat. The National Front sees no good reason for patronising the eating-houses of illegal immigrants. There are thousands of pubs throughout the country that serve good-quality food at reasonable prices. These have been closing down at an alarming rate due to lack of patronage. Perhaps it is time for the public to change their eating habits. This would mean eating healthy food and helping to keep British family pubs solvent.

NATIONAL FRONT ST GEORGE'S DAY RALLY

On the 20th April the party held its annual parade to celebrate the English National Day of St George. This year's event was held in Bermondsey, London. The party held a dignified and well-organized parade through South Bermondsey. Many local people lined the route and applauded the march as we passed by. Some of them joined us. At the end of the march, we heard a short speech from National Activities Organizer, Terry Blackham, which was greeted with warm and enthusiastic applause. A collection was then held, the proceeds of which went towards the cost of putting up a candidate there in the May elections. A lively social was held afterwards, and a raffle took place which raised over one hundred pounds. Thanks go out to all who attended that day, especially those who travelled great distances. You all did the party proud.

THE NF LAUNCHED A NEW "FIGHTING FUND" A new fighting fund was launched in March with a target of £30,000. Our first opening donation of £100 was made by John from Rotherhithe. This fund, if successful, will enable the party to continue all of its current operations and more. It will also provide us with the capital needed to promote the party and to contest more general election seats in the future. It is essential to try and achieve this target over the next two years, so please, donate on a regular basis, if you can do so. We are also looking for regional people to act as official fundraisers for the party. If you are interested, please contact Mike Shore at the Leicester Head Office.

Recipe for disaster

By Derek Godfrey

The Yarls Wood incident was another sorry episode in the saga of a government seemingly hell bent on exemplifying the proverb "Those whom the Gods wish to destroy they first drive mad".
Had good sense prevailed, and this centre not been built, millions of pounds worth of taxpayer's money would have been saved from going up in smoke and local residents – who had been strongly opposed to this scheme all along – spared the traumatic events of February 14th.
But, far from being influenced in any way by what the people may wish, the only effect adverse public opinion seems to have upon those in power is to make them all the more determined to go ahead with unpopular decisions, as even more such centres are scheduled for other areas of Britain. And what must, without doubt, be causing even greater public outrage is seeing our elected leaders more concerned with the welfare of asylum-seekers, illegal immigrants and criminals than the health of the nation. Although the health service is in crisis, with some hospitals forced to use corridors as makeshift wards, and patients having to spend long hours on trolleys due to serious bed shortages, vast amounts of public money are lavished on "State of the Art" asylum-seeker centres and new prisons with 5-star facilities for inmates. And if a report in a local newspaper was anything to go by, the £96 million demanded in compensation by Group 4 Security, who ran the centre, may have to be borne by Bedfordshire Council through increased council tax (already one of the highest in the country). This, so it was reported, could amount to £500 per person, paying tax.
According to a TV news report in January last year, 76,000 asylum seekers entered Britain the previous year, and as Britain is now "Top Haven for Asylum Seekers" (The Times 26th January 2001) and with the Daily Express on 25th August 2001 reporting the flood of asylum seekers to be "Out of Control", the figure for 2002 could well be similar if not greater. Also, according to the Daily Express on 26th September 2001, each asylum-seeker is costing the British taxpayer £10,000 per year! In the Daily Express of 27th September 2001 Dennis Price quoted Home Office figures that showed the number of applications to stay in Britain having surged by 13% to 80,000.
With a population rapidly approaching 62 million, if not that already, the small island of Britain is one of the world's most densely-populated countries, but, despite the enormous strain Britain's huge and expanding population places upon the economy and social services, thousands of asylum-seekers, illegal immigrants and the like continue to descend on our shores like locusts. The government allows them to stay and be "processed" rather than send them straight back where they came from, as we are told it would be "morally wrong for us to refuse them entry". If the majority of these people are genuine refugees rather than "economic migrants", why do they choose to travel more than half-way across a continent to reach Britain when they can seek and be given sanctuary in neighbouring countries to their own and among people similar to themselves ?
Another fact that seems to have no bearing on the government's lunatic policies regarding immigration is that Britain today is not the great industrial power it was when immigration first began 50 years ago. Today, according to the government's "Official" figure, there are approximately 1 million unemployed with hardly a day passing without news of further large-scale job losses. Taking aside state pensioners, there could well be a further 2 to 3 million other people dependent on state benefit.
Rather than deal with the matter in the way that common sense demands, to say nothing of public opinion, the government is to make another futile attempt at solving the problem with a further round of punitive tax increases which are being reflected by local civic authorities in the form of increased council tax. This is bound to result in even greater hardship for pensioners and others on low incomes. Clearly, this is a situation which if not addressed in a manner that reason demands can only have dire consequences for our society, as the resurgence in violence in Oldham and other areas in the North last year illustrated what can happen when public opinion is disregarded.
While people continue to submit to injustice, injustice will always prevail, and there are far too many of our fellow Britons these days who may deplore the situation but feel that "Nothing can be done about it" because of an unfortunate tendency to see authority as all-powerful and, therefore, immune to any effective challenge, while failing to realise that those in authority are only there at the sufferance of the people and by the same token can be removed.
While this current Labour government is turning out to be the worst administration to date, it should also be realised that problems relating to immigration and other issues presently confronting our society are due to almost fifty years of incompetent and gutless government by politicians of all 3 mainstream parties.
The National Front, on the other hand, has always fought vigorously in defence of our national identity and against the degenerate philosophies and perverse cultures that continue to reek untold harm upon our once great nation, and in this respect we know that we reflect the views of the silent majority.
